MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT TORJUDIOBORIOLA -

Dear readers of the Revista da Associação Columbófila Brasileira, It is with great pleasure that I share with you information crucial on the recent concern related to avian flu and the importance of adopting preventive measures to ensure the safety of our carrier pigeons. As president of the FCB it is my responsibility to transmit knowledge and promote actions that aim to protect our birds and contribute to poultry health.

In recent months, there has been an increase in reports of cases of avian flu in some regions of the country. This disease, also known as avian influenza, can have significant impacts on the health of birds, as well as socioeconomic implications for the poultry industry as a whole. Therefore, it is essential that all of us, fanciers, are attentive and adopt the preventive measures recommended by the competent authorities.

The Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Supply (MAPA) and the IMA-MG (Instituto Mineiro de Agropecuária) have played a crucial role in disseminating guidelines for the prevention of avian flu. Among the main measures recommended are:

Biosecurity: It is essential to ensure that our lofts are clean, well ventilated 1. and protected against the entry of wild birds or other animals. In addition, we must control the access of unauthorized persons to the loft, implementing appropriate hygiene measures, such as the use of clothing and shoes exclusive to the location.

Bird monitoring: It is important to be alert for any signs of illness in our racing pigeons, such as fever, lack of appetite, wheezing or diarrhea. If we detect any unusual symptoms, we must immediately contact a veterinary doctor specializing in birds. 3.

Notification of suspected cases: We must be aware of our responsibility to immediately notify the competent authorities if we suspect avian influenza in our pigeons or wild birds in the region.

These are just some of the preventive measures recommended, and every fancier should be familiar with the complete guidelines provided by MAPA and IMA-MG.

As dedicated racing pigeon enthusiasts, we play an important role in protecting poultry health and preventing the spread of disease. By adopting these measures, we contribute to maintaining our activity and to the general health of birds in the country.

The FCB is committed to working together with authorities, fanciers and breeders to promote responsible and safe pigeon racing. Let's come together and comply with all recommended preventive measures, ensuring that our racing pigeons continue to bring us joy and exceptional performance. Together we can make the difference!

MAP INTENSIFIES HEALTH INSPECTIONS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.
CHECK THE NECESSARY DOCUMENTATION TO SUBMIT TO THE INSPECTION AGENT

We would like to draw your attention to the importance of respecting fully the content of Ordinance No. 587, dated 05/22/2023, which established the state of zoosanitary emergency throughout the country. It is essential that we understand that, at this moment, the holding of championships, training, releases and agglomerations is expressly prohibited.

Our objective in sending this announcement is to raise awareness among all official pigeon breeders in the country, in order to avoid further damage to our community and even a possible ban on pigeon releases in the future.

We emphasize that, in view of these restrictions, the Brazilian Colombóphile Federation (FCB) is exempt from any civil or criminal liability related to the violation of the provisions of Ordinance No. 587. It is extremely important that all clubs and their members, as well as individual members, are aware of this exemption and assume individual responsibility for complying with government mandates.

We inform you that inspections carried out by Health Agents are on high alert and cover the entire country. In case of inspection, we request that the official breeders are prepared and present the following documentation: FCB Official Breeder Card; New Loft Certificate with MAPA health guidelines and recommendations; Numbers of traceability elements corresponding to each FCB washer

BR/FCI;

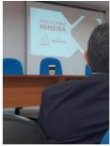

The presentation of these documents is essential to prove the regularity of the activity and compliance with the established rules. This information will contribute to efficient inspection and avoid possible setbacks.

The current state of animal health emergency requires us to take responsible and effective measures to guarantee the safety of our birds and the preservation of public health. We must be fully aware that any disrespect for these restrictions could have serious consequences for our activity and jeopardize the continuity of our passions and projects.

We stress the importance of sharing this information with all members and members of their respective clubs. It is essential that everyone is aware of the current prohibitions, the negative impact that non-compliance can have and the necessary documentation in case of inspection.

At this challenging time, we rely on your leadership and responsibility to guide your founding partners and ensure that the guidelines established by Ordinance No. 587 are strictly followed.

Together, we can contribute to overcoming this difficult period and ensure the future of our pigeon racing activity. Awareness, respect for regulations and the presentation of correct documentation are essential to preserve our passion for racing pigeons and the well-being of all. We appreciate your attention and cooperation in this crucial matter.

BRAZILIAN COLUMBOFATED FEDERATION PARTICIPATES IN IMPORTANT MEETING ON AVIAN INFLUENZA BY INVITATION TO IMA/FOLDER

On the last June 30, 2023, representatives of several official creator entities met with members of the Instituto Mineiro de Agropecuária (IMA) and the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Supply (MAPA) to discuss the situation of avian influenza in Brazil. The meeting, which was attended by the president of Clube Sete de Setembro de Belo Horizonte, Dr. Jorge Antônio Gomes, appointed by the FCB, had the main objective of devising strategies to contain the spread of the disease and provide information to breeders.

During the meeting, a retrospective of the first reports on influenza was held.

aviaria, which began to spread along the coast of Espírito Santo and has already reached the states of Rio Grande do Sul and Santa Catarina, with a total of 53 confirmed cases across the country. The representatives of the health bodies present at the meeting stressed the importance of acting quickly to find an effective solution and highlighted that, at the moment, restriction and prevention are still the best measures to be adopted, in order to prevent the spread of the virus among birds.

FCB President Dr. Cláudio Boriola, expressed his deep gratitude to the Instituto Mineiro de Agropecuária (IMA) and the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Supply (MAPA) for the honorable invitation to the Brazilian Pigeon Federation (FCB) to participate in this important event on Avian Influenza. "It is an honor to be able to contribute to discussions and actions to preserve the health of birds in the country. I sincerely thank you for the opportunity and

I reiterate our commitment to support joint efforts with IMA/MAPA for safe and sustainable poultry farming. Together, we will face the challenges and promote the well-being of our birds."

IMA/MAPA undertook to draw up detailed minutes of the meeting, which will be forwarded to the official entities by email, in order to keep everyone involved informed about the deliberations and next steps. In addition, the institute also announced plans to adapt the informative pamphlet that is being developed, with the aim of distributing it on commercial chicken, bird and carrier pigeon farms. This measure aims to provide relevant information to breeders and make them aware of the care needed to prevent the spread of the disease.

During the meeting, IMA/MAPA's commitment to solving this problem was evident, and they have the support of representative entities of poultry breeders, including the Brazilian Pigeon Federation (FCB). The Doctor. Jorge Antônio Gomes, president of Clube Sete de Setembro in Belo Horizonte, who was appointed as the representative of the FCB at this important meeting, highlighted the importance of unity among breeders and the commitment to face this challenging situation.

Avian influenza poses a significant threat to the Brazilian poultry industry, and information exchange and collaboration between the public and private sectors are critical to contain the progression of the disease. Today's meeting was an important step in that direction, and the breeders' organizations, in partnership with health agencies, will continue to work together to find effective solutions and minimize the impacts of avian influenza in the country.

AVIAN INFLUENZA: INCREASE OF OUTBREAKS IN BIRDS WILD PEOPLE IN SÃO PAULO AND RIO DE JANEIRO AWAKENS CONCERN

The Ministry of Agriculture and Livestock (MAPA) confirmed today (05/06/2023) the first outbreak of highly pathogenic avian influenza (H5N1) in the state of São Paulo. A wild bird of the Thalasseus maximus species, known as the royal tern, was found in the municipality of Ubatuba, on the north coast. In addition, another focus was detected in the city of Niterói, in the state of Rio de Janeiro, also in a bird of the same species.

In all, 24 outbreaks of the disease have been recorded in wild birds in the states of Espírito Santo, Rio de Janeiro, Rio Grande do Sul and São Paulo. However, it is important to emphasize that Brazil remains free of the highly pathogenic H5N1 avian influenza in commercial creations, maintaining its status as a disease-free country. Therefore, consumption of poultry meat and eggs remains safe throughout the country.

The FCB (Federação Columbófila Brasileira) as an Official Entity Registered with the Ministry of Agriculture and Livestock is closely monitoring the situation and faithfully following the recommendations of the competent body. In accordance with Ordinance No. 587, of May 22, 2023, the FCB recommends that all clubs and registered official breeder members not hold championships, releases, training or agglomerations of birds. These measures are extremely important to prevent the spread of avian influenza and protect the health of birds.

MAPA emphasizes that all establishments and poultry farms located within a 10 km radius of the outbreaks are being investigated and advised on prevention measures, following the Contingency Plan for Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza of the Department of Animal Health. Virus detection, surveillance and prevention actions are being carried out in jointly by MAPA, the Ministry of the Environment (ICMBio and IBAMA) and the Ministry of Health.

To date, the disease has been identified in several species, including the black-billed tern, brown booby, royal tern, northern tern, red-billed tern, bush, black-necked swan, gray-headed gull, frigate and cormorant.

MAPA reiterates the importance of avoiding contact with sick or dead birds and encourages the population to call the nearest local veterinary service or notify via the e-Sisbravet system if they find suspicious birds in the region.

FCB is committed to ensuring the safety and well-being of pigeon fanciers, following all the guidelines established by the competent authorities. The collaboration of all breeders is essential to control the spread of the disease and preserve the health of the animals.

FINAL PHASE OF THE TRACEABILITY SYSTEM IMPLEMENTATION – ACTION REQUIRED!

This initiative is extremely important to ensure safety and transparency in all activities of official clubs registered with the FCB, especially with regard to inspections.

Sanitary.

Soon, we will make available a new functionality in the FCB Official System, accessible through the link: www.fcb.org.br/controle. In this system, you will be able to transfer the traceability element numbers to the partners purchasing the washers, managing and distributing them in accordance with the requirements established by IN NR. 5/2018 of the MAP.

We would like to emphasize the importance of ensuring proper traceability of all birds involved in competitions and events related to racing pigeon breeding and management.

In this sense, it is fundamental to follow the established norms and regulations, using exclusively the registered washers and generating the numbers of traceability elements correctly, in accordance with current regulations. It is important to point out that it is not possible to transfer the element numbers generated by the MAP for the Brazilian Pigeon Federation (WINGER – Code 6.12 – Columba Livia) for another type of washer that is not registered in the MAPA through the FCB. The MAP system does not allow linking with washers of unknown or unregulated origin.

Therefore, it is essential that all registered clubs are aware of the deadlines and follow the necessary steps for the correct registration of its members. Adequate traceability is essential for health safety, the integrity of competitions and the protection of health public.

Example: Start MAP record: 076000007125301 End MAP record: 076000007126300 Start FCB-BR/FCI record: 2331001 End FCB-BR/FCI record: 2332000. Washer 2331001 corresponds to element number 076000007125301, and so on.

We would like to reinforce the importance of correctly following the registration procedures and updating the records of your Club members in the FCB System. AND

It is essential to carry out this step, as it will be necessary to link the element numbers of the MAP to FCB Original Official Washers acquired by each member.

In case of additional doubts about the registration process or about the specifications of the washers, our support team will be available for clarification. Do not hesitate to contact us through the channels indicated on the FCB website.

Thank you again for your commitment to safety and transparency in our pigeon fancier activities
